KEYMACRO is an easy-to-use macro software that makes editing work easy and fast. KEYMACRO is able to record your most important text. This is a nice alternative to other alternative to Vi, but which I prefer, as it is less tedious. NEW : Save Spaces and search by spaces in version 1.4.0 - Added "Settings" and "About" dialogs- Added "Save spaces" dialog- Added the ability to search for a text with spaces in the search box (using "*")- Added the ability to set the search engine you wish to use by editing the "Search.ini" file (You can still select the engine by using the menu)- Added a very good algorithm to save spaces by increasing the size of the font to avoid "squishing" characters- Added the ability to not only find the spaces, but also, the first and last "space" within the file (case insensitive)- Added the ability to not only find the first "space", but also, the first and last "space" of the previous line (case insensitive)- Added the ability to change the cursor in the "Edit with" context- Added the ability to specify the destination folder on where to save the file when editing with the "+" menu- Added the ability to create/open/save/delete macros with a double click- Added the ability to create/open/save/delete keyboard shortcuts for the macro system- Added the ability to customize the keyboard shortcuts- Added the ability to see "Copy" and "Paste" commands associated with a macro- Added the ability to insert or modify the place of the command within the macro- Added the ability to set the cursor in the "Edit with" context by clicking on the "Insert" button of the macro- Added the ability to undo all the changes that you have done to the macro- Added the ability to set the "Insert text" area on the context of the macro- Added the ability to specify the font size of the "Insert text" area- Added the ability to edit the place of the commands of the macro- Added the ability to specify if the lines are the first and last commands of the macro- Added the ability to use "*" and "?" wildcard in the "Find" box- Added the ability to select the "Append to" in the "Open and save" context- Added the ability to edit the text of the macro in the "Edit with" context- Added the ability to

What I have is a form that is supposed to take user input and then update a field on the template (this is the part that I cannot get to work), but when I submit the form, the template changes and what is actually in the database gets updated. I have tried using the template loader and that didn't work and I have tried adding a reload method in the view to no avail. Any suggestions? A: You can get the data that is being submitted by POST in your view by making it the context of your view function: `def update_template(request): form_data = RequestContext(request) return`

`render_to_response("template.html", form_data)` You should be able to then update the template as you wish and have the template data render the form data as it should be updated to the database. Q: Python "logical" and oring I have a program where I want to add the dates from two lists. The lists are created from list of objects with the same fields. Example: `list1 = [obj1, obj2, obj3...]` `list2 = [obj1, obj2, obj3...]` What I want to have is like this (no idea how to put it all): `list1 or list2` In the end I get the following output (if the objects are added): `[obj1, obj2, obj3...]` `[obj4, obj5, obj6...]` What I get now is like this: `[obj1, obj2, obj3, obj4, obj5, obj6...]` The lists can have different length, so in the end I want to get the following output: `[obj1, obj2, obj3, obj4, obj5, obj6...]` `[obj7, obj8, obj9...]` `[obj10, obj11, obj12...]` As you can see the oring of the dates is not working. The dates from `list1` or `list2` are added as long as one of the date from that list is the oldest one. A: You could use `itertools.izip()` to get the two lists and then use the oldest
