Online gambling in the United States has been heavily regulated since 2006. However, the UIGEA outlawed "remote bank" gambling, so online poker is the only major type of US online gambling that is illegal. In 2011,

UIGEA regulations were relaxed by the US Department of Justice under the authority of the William D. Silberback Memorandum. In 2013, the Silberback Memorandum also granted the Wire Act exemption from UIGEA requirements to online sports betting. Government enforcement On July 24, 2006, the then-United States Attorney General Alberto Gonzales filed a complaint against Full Tilt Poker, Poker Stars, and Absolute Poker. On October 21, 2007, the Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation seized the assets of these three online poker rooms, among others. On October 23, 2008, the Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation charged PokerStars with operating an illegal online gambling business, and shut down the company's US operations. On July 5, 2011, a federal court fined PokerStars US$10 million for its involvement with the online gambling business. On July 26, 2013, the Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation named two of the company's founders, Betfair owner Anthony Garvan and player Vic Neufeld, in an indictment charging them with participating in the illegal gambling industry.

I heard kujunu live, it was a great show. To me, Munakata live sounded like a much better show than Bismarck live. Well if you want a re-release of Bismarck then you need to use Munakata and not Bismarck (from the beginning of 2007 to the middle of 2008). Munakata will have more hits which is why it's better.
