Q: Laravel 5.1 - How to use QueryBuilder with this foreach loop I am having a difficult time wrapping my head around how to populate a list using Laravel 5.1 and QueryBuilder. I have a function that gets a list of users `$userInvocations = User::all();` as well as a list of users that we have to perform an operation on, that are also stored in a variable. I am trying to say for each user in the `$userInvocations` variable, use the `$userId` in the `$users` variable, then add it to a list and return it. `foreach($userInvocations as $user){ $userInvocation = User::where('id', $user->id) ->where('user_id', $userId) ->orderBy('id', 'asc') ->first(); }` I have tried the above code, but I am not sure if there is a better way to do this than what I am doing. A: You may use the `map()` function like this:

$userInvocationCollection =
User::all()->map(function($user) use ($userId) { $userInvocation = $user->where('user_id', $userId) ->orderBy('id', 'asc') ->first(); return
```

$userInvocation; }); //Just make sure to return it or you'll receive an empty Collection //This will return the last (if there are multiple) or the first. //If you need the first just return $userInvocationCollection->first(); Obviously, $userId is probably

What's New in the Adobe Photoshop 2022 (Version 23.1)?

The Healing Brush is another great tool for repairing images. It will copy pixels from a different area and paste them into the area that's damaged. Pens work a lot like brushes, although they're generally used for more precise purposes. They're much more precise than brushes. The Smudge Tool can be used to blur the edges of an image. The Brush Tool can be used to do this, too, but it's not as precise as the Smudge Tool. The Pencil tool has three different types: the Pencil Tool, the Eraser Tool, and the Eraser Tip Tool.

Photoshop comes with a number of predefined brushes. Open them from the Brush Menu or press to open the Brush List. Here's a screenshot of the Brush Menu: If you want to customize one of these brushes, open its properties window by double-clicking the brush. Click the X at the bottom to close the properties window. You can always reset the brush properties by clicking the X back in. If you want to make your own custom brushes, you'll need to either make a Photoshop document with instructions about how to do this, or buy a Photoshop brush pack and follow the instructions. The following table summarizes Photoshop brushes and collections. If a brush has a green image button next to it, it's in a brush pack that's available in the Brush menu. -----

[Brushes] Brush types The two most common types of brushes are the sable and the sable round brush. They're about the same size, and often used to create the same types of effects. In some brushes, however, the size or hardness (softness) can be changed by clicking and holding the pen tool and then moving the pen tip around. The adjustable brush has two size options, amount and size, which can be changed by clicking and holding the pen tool and then moving the pen tip. It can also be made softer or harder with the Amount and Size sliders in the Brush menu. The selection brush is a good brush to use when you want to paint in an image by clicking and dragging. It creates new pixels with the colors of the pixels on the left, and paints over the current pixels. This helps you edit images. The brush is made from the paint bucket, and is the one brush in Photoshop that is actually a paint bucket with bristles. A paint bucket
