Overview AutoCAD is a popular commercial CAD software product available for several platforms, including Windows, macOS, and Linux. Like most commercial CAD applications, AutoCAD is a comprehensive and powerful drafting and design package that can be used to create two-dimensional and three-dimensional drawings. Unlike some of its competitors, AutoCAD does not require the viewer to install plug-ins. The current version of AutoCAD is 2018. The next update of AutoCAD, which will be released in March 2020, will be based on the Visual Studio 2019 IDE. (The public beta of this new IDE is available starting January 2020).

Features The main features of AutoCAD 2018 are: Working drawings: Scans, traces, and edits. Trace: Creates a path and converts the path into a graphic object. Draw: Creates text, line, polyline, arc, ellipse, freehand, circle, and arrow objects. Plot: Draws and edits graphs. Plotting commands: Draws a chart, graph, map, and simulation. Option: Permits you to edit a parameter value. Data Management: Shows and manages data. Raster Images: Scans and creates raster images. 3D Features: Includes polygon and spline mesh modeling. Dimensions and drawings: Add, delete, and edit features such as dimensions and groups. Outliner: Shows the hierarchy of drawing objects. Dimensions: Creates 2D or 3D objects for measured values such as height, width, diameter, and distance. Features Dimensions: Creates 2D or 3D objects for measured values such as height, width, diameter, and distance. Modeling: Provides three-dimensional modeling capabilities with polygon, spline, and wireframe modeling tools. Plotting: Draws charts, graphs, maps, and simulations. Coordinate System: Enables you to work with true, graph, and lat/lon coordinates. User Interface AutoCAD 2018 was developed with Macromedia Flash Player 10.2 and Adobe Systems' Captivate technology, which allows the user to use the same editor to create both animations and presentations. The user interface was redesigned from Autodesk 2018 in the process of making it fully compatible with the Adobe Flash Player 10.2
