The new technology uses in-game physics to make players move like they really do on the pitch and it gives the FIFA franchise its best-ever gameplay yet. Read the EA official press release below or jump to the video section. Capture & Play: Motion Capture Data Gives FIFA Its Best Ever Play Experience Los Angeles, CA (October 5, 2016) – The first-of-its-kind real-life player motion capture gives fans the opportunity to create new and improved player movements in FIFA, bringing more personality and authenticity to the player animations and creating new ways for fans to play. A first for the series, the technology makes the players in FIFA more physically engaging than ever before, giving the game its best-ever gameplay experience. Easily the biggest change to the game's player movement in the generation is the inclusion of player "motion capture" data from the "Sideline" game engine, meaning data from actual players while playing in real life, not filmed actors, is captured in 3D and fed into the game engine to provide an accuracy that rivals any Hollywood film. The Sideline engine has also been completely rebuilt, with more intuitive user interfaces and faster gameplay. "In FIFA 17, we introduced a new method of player creation using a cinematic engine, which allowed us to create the most realistic character models in the history of the franchise," said David Rutter, Executive Producer on FIFA. "Our next step was to move onto gameplay, and we have been working since last year to create the most authentic football experiences and the motion capture tech allows us to do this. "We owe this technology to our players, who have been sharing their likeness data with us for the past year. The fun thing for us to do is share their likeness with the game and so we've built a game around it. We wanted our fans to be able to experience the game as the players would, having a high level of emotion and intensity, so we've implemented a new engine, video game engine, which we call Sideline. We've redesigned the user interfaces and we've added an additional level of realism to the game, but above all, we want to bring back the emotions to football. With the motion capture data, we can bring the players to life." This is a significant day for us," said Rich Pople

In FUT, you'll also be able to boost your team with coins you earn by completing FIFA tournaments, challenges, and service items. The more coins you earn, the easier it becomes to build your dream squad. New Players The addition of new players in FIFA 22 brings the ultimate football experience to new heights. New players include Paul Pogba, Mattia De Sciglio and Mattia Calascione. All of the new players have received extensive in-depth profiles and are equipped with attributes that make them perfect for the direction you want your game to go. Matchday We've re-imagined how to deliver the most realistic matchday experience in FIFA. We've added a new match schedule for more flexibility and significantly increased our loading times to ensure an

What's new:

- 2KCOMMENTS – A new option to interact with the game's commentary and replays. 1 n 2K have introduced “CUSTOM COMMENTS” – from the crowd's cheers to player introductions, to the referee's promptings on free kicks, heading and cards. Now players can have a similar control of the commentary by tailoring the types of comments they deliver. Offering this unique feature is great for mini-stories, as it allows for greater variety.
- FIFA Ultimate Team – New Legend. With 84 possible cards in-game, the opportunity to collect this new Legend card is a blast.
- FIFA Ultimate Team – New Traits. The Traits feature allows you to boost your squad's stats in a great number of ways. While some will leave players at a slight advantage, others will introduce several new ways for players to rise.
- Performance Chips for Champions League
- Home Improvements. Improvements to the home improvements mode and a new theme created by the game's developers for Brazilian clubs.

Basketball 2K22

Fast Breaks

Basketball Fast Breaks is back.

Further improvements to Inbound and Outbound Fakes. These moves were already useful, but now they can be balanced in ways that add even more depth to these important passes.

Player card animations more realistic.

The “Basketroller” Mechanic has been refined and balanced. New checks have been added to ensure this method works smoothly.

Overall improvements to this mode, plus an entirely new tutorial designed to teach the common areas of the game.
