We applied a sandwich enzyme immunoassay for verotoxin in the ascitic fluid of a patient with spontaneous bacterial peritonitis. The fluid contained not only E. coli but also verotoxin-producing E. coli (VTEC). The result of the assay was compared with that obtained by culture of the fluid. Sensitivity and specificity of the sandwich enzyme immunoassay were 100% and 100%, respectively. Thus, the sandwich enzyme immunoassay was found to be quite useful in the clinical diagnosis of VTEC-induced disorders.Q: May a person be denied rabbinical ordination without reason? A person is given rabbinical ordination, even after satiating the required mitsvah regarding ordination. What reasons/circumstances would prevent a person from being ordained? A: Yoma 104a says the reason is that a person is not paying their dues and they are spreading lies that ordination was given to him. A: Rabbi Akiva Eiger in his book "The Rabbinic Code" says this: As we have stated, the keeping of the Torah is a sign of holiness. However, it is possible that a person's conduct may be such that they are not worthy of this great honor. He then goes on to address a number of areas where a person might exhibit this type of behavior, but do not get ordained. #!/usr/bin/env bash ## Requirements - Python >= 2.6 - OSX >= 10.7 ## Steps ## Introduction This is a script to convert an Emacs-Lisp project to haskell, which should ensure consistency between haskell-mode's indentation features and emacs's indentation features.
