Song of Farca is a 90's style, single-player, narrative-driven mystery game. The game is episodic, and with each episode you will encounter new mysteries to solve. From social media clues to grisly crime scene photos, there are enough reasons to investigate, so you don't have to. Every episode is crafted with a particular location in mind, so you can enjoy the world as much as you enjoy the story. The scope is limited to one town, and the purpose is to solve a murder, help the people affected by it, and influence the town's fate. As a crime mystery game, it allows you to reveal the truth and avoid the dangers that come with it. As a modern detective story, you encounter a high tech environment and easy-to-access data on social media, but they are not the focus, rather you have to focus on solving the murder.

Song of Farca is available on Steam for $14.99 (USD) and can be bought through our website. About the Developer: Dream Reactor is a game studio specializing in digital media and web design. ExxonMobil, Chevron and ChevronTexaco bond prices did not fluctuate with the overall oil market on Wednesday despite market volatility, but a weaker dollar and softening natural gas prices could affect their outlook. "Equity prices are different from the oil price. We have a couple of weeks of volatility before the close and we are always resistant to changing direction," said Michael Peters, chief investment strategist at First South Financial in Knoxville, Tenn. "We have been watching the market and would like to buy the market to go down, but we are not overly concerned with the overall direction," said Peters, who uses Exxon and Chevron as examples. Exxon, the world's largest publicly traded oil company, lost 1 cent to $74.91 per share in trading on the New York Stock Exchange on Wednesday. Chevron lost 1 cent to $108.69 and ChevronTexaco, Chevron's refining and marketing business, dropped 1 cent to $63.80, also on the NYSE. The price of crude oil has fallen more than 7 percent since oil prices topped $100 a barrel in late April. "The market is historically less volatile toward the end of the year," Peters said. "We are a little 'light headed' right now and the [stock] markets are just being a little jittery." Chevron, a unit of Chevron Corp., has a market capitalization of $205.7 billion. Exxon has a market capitalization of $156.1 billion. Peters said higher interest rates are helping drive the dollar lower, which in turn is pressuring commodity prices. He cited a report that the Federal Reserve was going to buy 60-65 billion dollars in Treasuries and pay lower rates. "That is no different than when the Fed bought 30 billion dollars in Treasuries during the depression," he said. The dollar lost about 2 cents to 91.86 cents per euro. The dollar index hit a session high
