Newcastle Jets are delighted to announce the signing of former Sydney FC, Central Coast Mariners and Queensland Roar midfielder Noel Spencer. Spencer has been at Sydney FC since 2008, making 216 appearances in all competitions during that time, after which he moved to the Mariners to play a total of 106 matches. Following a brief spell at QLD Roar in 2016, he returned to Sydney FC for the 2017/18 season. The 25-year-old has played 50 times for the Socceroos since his debut in a 2-2 draw with England in 2011. He has also featured at recent AFC Championships and Asian Cup qualifiers. Spencer will join the Jets on a 3-year deal and becomes the club's 7th confirmed signing. English label Exrikit has revealed an updated version of the D-Fender, the company's electronic acoustic guitar. The original iteration of the D-Fender was introduced in June of 2015 and added a deeper bass sound and an EQ function to further enhance the acoustic guitar's slightly psychedelic vibe. The latest update to the D-Fender removes the inline effects and brings the instrument back to its traditional form. The update also includes other visual changes to the classic guitar's design. Listen to a demo of the new version of the D-Fender and watch a short video below. Depression and occupational health among high-risk workers. The purpose of this study was to assess the relationships between depression and self-reported oral health status, physical activity, and nutrition in a cohort of high-risk workers. The subjects were recruited at a well-

All these software piracy is illegal. Glucocorticoid-induced tumor necrosis factor receptor suppression alters plasma cytokine and fatty acid profiles during larval and juvenile development in Atlantic halibut Hippoglossus hippoglossus. Aquatic ecosystems are affected by pollutants from land-based activities. These pollutants often enter waters via atmospheric deposition of long-lived, persistent, and bioaccumulative chemicals that can bioaccumulate in aquatic food webs. To investigate potential long-term changes in the bioaccumulation of chemicals from polluted habitats, the effect of a fish glucocorticoid on the levels of the cytokine tumor necrosis factor alpha (TNF-alpha) and the fatty acid composition of larval and juvenile Atlantic halibut Hippoglossus hippoglossus were examined. Larvae were treated from hatching until the end of the experiment with 300 microg kg(-1) cortisol, the approximate amount in halibut larvae after a 1-h exercise challenge. Elevated levels of TNF-alpha were found in halibut from the control group. Salivary cortisol levels in the cortisol-treated group were significantly lower than in the control group, suggesting that cortisol administration induced a stress response in the halibut larvae. The fatty acid composition of the larval halibut was affected by cortisol exposure. Palmitic and stearic acids, which are associated with stress and defense responses in other vertebrates, were elevated in halibut larvae from the cortisol-treated group. Also, cortisol treatment was found to affect the fatty acid composition of halibut juveniles. The concentrations of omega-6 and omega-3 polyunsaturated fatty acids and the ratio of omega-6 to omega-3 polyunsaturated fatty acids (n-6:n-3) were significantly elevated in hal
