Our wide selection of software and games can be downloaded directly to your PC, MAC or the latest mobile devices.Join the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies at York University for the inaugural conference on Transforming the War on Drugs: Political Economy and the Future of Criminalisation, to be held on Friday, 8 September 2017, at the University of Toronto. This is the first conference of its kind in Canada, following the Global Drug Survey's landmark report released in April 2017. The conference will bring together experts and academics from a variety of disciplines - including social science, economics, philosophy, history, legal studies, and public health - to discuss the future of drug policy. The conference will have two presentations, a panel and presentations by keynote speakers. The panel will include, among others, Shari Yawney of the Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse (CCSA), a leading voice in the field of drug policy, and David Gow of the Canadian Police Association. The keynote speakers include the following prominent anti-legalisation activists: Mark Kleiman, David Owen, and Sean Stone. The conference will also include a panel presentation of Academic Impact. There are four sessions on the panel, a focus issue, and the closing keynote, presented by the Conference Organizer, Dr Stephen Graham.
