The aim of this study was to investigate the effects of sucrose concentration in wheat breads on glucose metabolism and metabolism of cholesterol and cholic acid in rats. Adult male Wistar rats were randomly divided into a low sucrose group (LS) and a control group (CS) fed with a rodent diet. A high sucrose group (HS) was also included. In LS and HS, sucrose was replaced by glucose, which was added to wheat breads. The breads were fed for 14 days. Rats were fasted for 18 h, and then blood was collected by cardiac puncture. Serum glucose and lipids were measured, blood glucose was determined by
