Quack: A Narrative History of Medical Quackery in America.- THE REAL POWER OF THE CHIROPRACTOR.. "A man puts a handkerchief across his face and blows, like a horse; and when I told them who I was and said the little boy was not well, they laughed at me, and said I needed help and the handkerchief." --U.S. Senator William G. McAdoo, 1897. I'M.i.ilu-[S) ioj.ia.iutr will in all instances be kept in the family and taken out of the family according to the prescriptions, rules, and customs of our own family. Any charge for a visit is subject to our express rules and regulations. Children and the aged and the infirm cannot be treated gratis. As you are judged by your talents, we are not always able to prescribe. We give sound and tested advice, which you will be wise to follow. We will never prescribe for a patient unless the disease is evident and the symptoms are present. We try to avoid treating imaginary diseases; we do not advertise; we have no desire to get rich; we will make just as much, or more than a physician of the old school; if we continue in business we will strive to build up a large practice. WE WILL PURSUE THE NOVUM WITH PATIENCE AND COLLECTIVE INVESTIGATION.
