[FSX P3D] - Chubu Centrair Intl (Pacific Islands Simulation)

when it opened 17 years ago today, chubu centrair international airport (ngo) took over all nagoya airport's commercial flights and helped relieve the tokyo and kansai areas of cargo shipments. it also automatically inherited the iata airport code ngo from what is now called nagoya airfield (nkm).

built on a 9,000-square-metre artificial island in the middle of aino, lake kasumigaura, aichi prefecture, japan, the airport is just a few minutes from nagoya. today chubu centrair serves the metropolitan area surrounding the city of nagoya. in this central manufacturing location, the toyota motor corporation, mitsubishi motors, and mitsubishi aircraft corporation have their company headquarters. chubu centrair international airport (ngo) offers a range of commercial services, from cargo to scheduled passenger services. it operates a variety of boeing 777-200er and -300er aircraft including a boeing 757-200er that flies a route to tampines airfield (tpn) in singapore. this is the only boeing 757 to operate at the airport. all of the boeing 747-400 freighters also operate out of the airport, and there is a boeing 747-400 freighter that has been in service since 2004. the freighter is powered by two rolls royce rb.211-535 engines. there are also two boeing 747-200f freighters and a boeing 747-200f that have been in service since 2000 and 2002 respectively. unfortunately, the locals are not as friendly as you might expect. a visit to the airport last year found that it was in the midst of a major expansion which would have upgraded the terminal and brought new technology to the airport. however, chubu centrain was not to be. it was announced in july 2009 that chubu centrain international airport would be closing. the full closure of the airport takes place on the 10th of october, 2009. 5ec8ef588b
