This software allows you to easily make notes in a user-friendly environment. Notes are stored in a list that is displayed in the main window, and they can be organized into several categories, which can be divided into subcategories, and each category can be assigned a priority. You can also set different priorities for notes in a category. You can view the date of creation and last modification, and edit fonts, add attachments and file links, set the category name and priority, enable spell check, password-protect the program, search for notes and even manually sort the notes in the list. All the information is displayed in an easy-to-read format. In addition, you can use the support function to make notes by pressing the space bar, or send notes to the desktop by dragging and dropping them there. You can create multiple notes that will be displayed on the desktop (i.e. sticky notes). When you want to move one of these notes to another folder, drag it to the desired location and drop it there. In addition, you can perform the following operations on each note: save the note, copy it to the clipboard, lock the note, delete it, print it, and set its priority. With the help of the backup function, you can quickly and easily restore notes, so that they can be read, edited and printed. You can save several backups, and you can choose to automatically run them on system startup. You can also store notes in an external file. You can associate a note with any other file and you can even determine the kind of file. You can create notes that will be hidden (i.e. confidential notes) and you can perform operations on them, such as opening them, locking them, copying them, moving them, printing them, deleting them, sorting them and searching for them. You can change the interface and language, set the style, enable the automatic running of Portable Efficient Notes Crack Mac at system startup and much more.
