The first thing you'll notice is that Photoshop looks waaay better than it used to. Gone are the dark clunky grey menus that made editing a struggle for me, but I'm sure that plenty of other people out there would disagree. The whole interface is streamlined for 2019 and I think it's beautifully designed. Its three toolbars have had a makeover, which means you can quickly scroll over the different tools without pausing the action. And the navigation is a breeze – the familiar 'Command' keyboard shortcut makes navigating your way around the interface a breeze. You can calibrate and profile your display to get the most accurate colors and tones. There are calibration presets for sRGB, ECG, Apple Wide Color, and even systems defined by the creator of Photoshop. Custom profiles can be generated with the built-in calibration tools, including Red Green Blue, Grayscale, and LAB. Support for sRGB Plus is built in and works with color management. But if your document is already in a color space you can create a Custom ICC profile for that color space, and a new Save for Web & Devices lets web designers save a custom color profile for use in other applications on the same site. Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Photoshop Elements are superb tools for photo editing and creativity. It's a world-leading photo editing tool that enables you to create the best quality output in the fashion of your choice. "This release is focused on capturing the moments and creating the stories. We're embracing new ways to tell compelling stories through images," said Rushad Cline, vice president of product management, Adobe Photoshop. "We're focused on building products that make creative professionals even more productive, helping them unlock their creativity and connect with their communities and audiences." "Photoshop has been at the forefront of crafting beautiful images and using them to deliver powerful brands for over 20 years," said Francois Auclair, vice president of product management, Creative Cloud Design. "With Adobe Sensei, we're enabling designers to make the most of the deep learning powered by AI techniques to make images look and work like nothing they've ever seen before. In addition, we're enabling creative professionals to share for review easily without leaving Photoshop." "Here at Glamour, our digital media team spends most of their time on a limited set of post-production processes so we're constantly testing new features to enhance our workflow. With this update, we can now create custom workflows in the browser, and we can share work with others easily without the need to export to a different application." "Our team of creative professionals use Adobe Photoshop regularly to manage the visual design work in our media library and other document types," said Helene Pare, general manager, Adobe's Creative Cloud Division. "Today's announcement shows that we're committed to helping photographers and illustrators create images that amaze. Our vision is to help people create amazing images in any project, on any device or platform."
